

Reviewer Profile – Prof. P. Hewage, University of Ruhuna

Dr. Piyadasa Hewage is a Senior Professor attached to the Department of Geography, University of Ruhuna and currently the Chairman of the Board of Study, Faculty of Humanities & Social Sciences. He teaches postgraduate subject of Cartography as well as undergraduate subjects in Research Methods, Transport Geography, Population Geography and Medical Geography. He was the Director, Career Guidance, Head, Department of Geography and Dean, Faculty of Humanities & Social Sciences, University of Ruhuna. He also currently serves as a Member of Research Advisory Committee of the Central Environment Authority of Sri Lanka. He is also a Visiting Lecturer of IHRA, University of Colombo and Department of Geography, University of Kelaniya. He was a Team Member of the Institutional Review of University of Peradeniya and University of Colombo. Under the HETC Project, he participated as a Member of Review Panels for two Subject Reviews in the Department of Geography, University of Peradeniya and Department of Geography, Eastern University. He also worked as a member of the two Review Panels for Department Reviews of Department of Geography and Department of Demography, carried out by the University of Colombo. Hewage's research interest is the examination of how health issues become shaped by spatial factors and in this context he has worked in the area of reproductive health, contraceptive use, and in the practice of induced abortion. His work with the undergraduates has included career guidance training, personality development and facilitating linkages with industry. He currently works as the Chairman of the International Conference on Humanities and Social Sciences, University of Ruhuna. khewage@sltnet.lk, 041 2222682 (ext. 3301), 071 2218114